Stealth Computer Quietly Expands Operations To Manage Growth

Toronto, Canada ~ April 18, 2008 - Stealth Computer, a market leader in the industrial computer and peripherals market, today announced it has expanded their current facilities with the acquisition of a neighboring building. Stealth's current headquarters operates from within a 15,000 square feet facility and includes production, sales, corporate and administrative offices. The new adjoining building comprises of an additional 11,000 square feet expanding Stealth's total facility to just over 27,000 square feet in size.

"The prospect of expanding our facility by acquiring the adjoining building was an opportunity we couldn't pass up. It is absolutely critical that we invest and plan for our current and future growth", remarked Ed Boutilier, Stealth's President & CEO.

With the additional space Stealth will primarily expand their production floor by adding a clean room facility, secured inventory and extended configuration and burn-in capability for their rugged PC product lines.
